In Control is pleased to announce the BIG event - the biggest live showcase for Self-Directed Support in the UK.

It's aimed at everyone and anyone who wants Self-Directed Support to happen in their community and will enable you to not just be good, but be GREAT in delivering real outcomes for real people.

the Big event will include:

- Keynote by Simon Duffy CEO of In Control and Terry Lynch, an expert in helping older people remain self reliant.
- A live Market Place consisting of a wide range of exhibitors large and small to enable delegates to network, pick up new ideas, think differently and shop for the help you need to make Self Directed-Support work for you and your organisation.
- A live Help Desk and Advice Line consisting of the best people in the UK who know how to make self directed support happen.
- And many, many interactive workshops on how to make Self-Directed Support work for everyone including - interactive support planning, developing the market, building community capacity, interactive drama sessions, social innovation and enterprise, managing risk, speakers' corner and what we have learned so far, to name a few.
