Rights, risk and restraint

– an introduction to a human rights approach to implementing positive behaviour support

BILD is committed to ensuring that the use of restraint and restrictive practices is reduced in favour of positive behaviour support.

This event will explore how such an approach can be underpinned by a human rights framework that is based on the principles of fairness, respect, equality, dignity and autonomy.

This event has been CPD Certified. Attendance will allow you to gain CPD points towards your Continuous Professional Development requirements.

The aims of the event are:

- to explore the link between human rights and positive behaviour support
- to define and recognise restrictive practices
- to discuss how a human rights framework provides principles for practice
- to offer practical steps to implementation

Who should attend?

The day is aimed at practitioners, teachers, support workers, case managers and services managers who have a professional interest in supporting children, young people and adults across a variety of settings who are described as challenging.
