

Think smart

BULLYING

The second in the well-received Think smart series, this pack of 32 cards is designed especially for young people in public care.

The cards address bullying at school, suggesting sources of help and how young people might take positive action and develop self-esteem. Suitable for children and young people aged 8-14 years, they can be used independently, with other children and with carers, teachers and social workers. The cards are designed to be read, shared and carried and may be used by young people to help articulate their experiences.

Schools may wish to make Think smart - bullying available to a wider range of pupils.
