Benefits of CSIE training

CSIE staff and our associate trainers are knowledgeable and experienced in delivering talks and facilitating training for teachers, learning supporters, local authority officers, other professionals involved in young people's education, parents and students. Our training is routinely praised for the level of interest and engagement it evokes, its positive and constructive impact, the clarity with which even complex issues are presented and the supportive manner in which participants are encouraged to examine their own beliefs and assumptions. CSIE training is competitively priced and offers excellent value for money.

Training tailored to your requirements

In addition to training events listed in this leaflet, we are always pleased to offer bespoke training tailored to the particular requirements of schools, other educational settings and/or local authorities. Please contact us on 0117 3284007 or at training@csie.org.uk to discuss any number of possibilities.

Feedback from CSIE talks and training delivered in Autumn 2010

“CSIE provides high quality input which has stimulated discussion and provided a point of reference which lasted beyond the time we had with CSIE. I strongly recommend CSIE as an organisation capable of leading training on matters relating to educational inclusion.”

“The CSIE presentation helped think about participants' own practice and the practice of their workplace in a range of areas beyond special educational needs, such as gender, ethnicity and deprivation.”

“I really enjoyed your lecture, and have picked up from the students that they were really sorry not to have had more time to discuss things. The lecture provoked a lot of discussion with subject tutors – so you certainly got them thinking!”
