Thinking about sex

A short simple guide for people with learning disabilities – information on sex, contraception and keeping safe from sexual infections. A useful addition to any course for people with learning disabilities on sex and relationships.

Everything you need to know about HIV (AIDS)

HIV is a difficult infection to explain. This booklet describes what HIV is, how it can be caught and how to prevent it.

A guide to giving up smoking

People with learning disabilities have the same problems giving up smoking as everyone else. This booklet explains why it is good to stop smoking and gives some ideas on how to give up.

All these books are in simple English with high quality graphic illustrations to help people with learning disabilities understand the health messages in them.
