International Health & Wellbeing Across Professional Boundaries: A Global Healthcare Conference

This conference is an exciting opportunity for health professionals, practitioners, managers, policy makers, educationalists, researchers, across the globe to gather to examine health challenges across professional and socioeconomic boundaries in meeting health demands in differing systems.

The conference will focus on the innovative and challenging strategies required to meet health needs and the growing healthcare demand. Expert perspectives and cutting edge research will inform multi-disciplinary practice in physical and mental health care.

Exploring strategies for coordinating healthcare planning and delivery will be shared in an informal and friendly atmosphere with the aim of gaining knowledge to prepare for the future.

The beautiful campus setting at Chester is an ideal environment for reflecting on the exciting work being presented. This conference is also an ideal opportunity for healthcare practitioners to learn about opportunities in working in the US.
