2. BELFAST Major European conference on learning disability

Europe in Action 2014, the annual conference on learning disability, is being held this year in Belfast for the first time from 15 to 17 May and will explore the theme of 'Growing up with an intellectual disability.'

Organised by Mencap and Inclusion Europe, the European Association of Persons with Intellectual Disabilities and their Families, the conference will explore the impact of learning disability on the lives of individuals and families from three different perspectives:

About me – early intervention, advocacy, becoming independent

About us – me and my family, supporting and strengthening families

About you – me and my neighbourhood, building inclusive and welcoming communities.

The conference will be attended by people with a learning disability, families, carers, professionals and policy makers from across the UK, Ireland and Europe and is an exciting opportunity to take part in a European conference that is coming to the UK for the first time.

The conference combines plenary sessions and 28 parallel sessions that explore the main conference theme delivered by people with a learning disability with their own experiences, other professionals and experts including:

Myra Berloff, director, Massachusetts Office on Disability

George Hosking, founder of WAVE Foundation

Diane Richler, international advocate and government consultant on disability

Senada Halilčević, the leading international advocate

The conference offers a unique platform to discuss issues that matter to people with a learning disability and their families. The outcomes from Europe in Action 2014 will also help to inform local / Europe-wide policy.

This event will take place in Leeds on Thursday 26 June, 10am to 4pm at Shine. Please also support us and pass this form around to people with learning disabilities. I think that this is an important and very real opportunity for people with learning disabilities to be leaders in closing down institutions here in the UK and across Europe. I want people with learning disabilities to have real choice and control over their lives
