

National Anti-Bullying Advocacy Group (NAAG)

Where: The National Institute for Intellectual Disability, at 3 College Green, Dublin 2

Aimed at people with an intellectual disability

When: Friday 1st November

Cost: €20

Time: 10.30 – to 5pm

The aim of this day is to have guest speakers come and talk about things that are important to know about for people that have an intellectual disability. The group believes that being aware of and having an understanding of up to date information about disability policy and how it will impact on there lives is very important.

Information talks to include learning about:

- The UN convention on the rights of disabled people
- The new directions policy from the HSE about how services need to work from now on
- The new HIQA standards for residential services for disabled people
- The new bill on assistive decision making
- The new housing strategy for persons with disabilities
- Independent living and its philosophy as defined by disabled people
- Individualized funding and brokerage - PossibilitiesPlus

Important - To book a place you will need to:

1. You must mail Fiona at weldonfi@tcd.ie to let her know that you are interested in coming
2. Request and fill out booking form and attach payment to: Ms Fiona Weldon, National Institute for Intellectual Disability, 3 College Green, Dublin 2 no later then Monday 28th October.