

Call for Papers: Journal of Intellectual Disabilities

In-coming Editor: Professor Ruth Northway, University of Glamorgan, UK

Founding Editor: Professor Bob Gates, University of Hertfordshire, UK

Forthcoming Events & Reports Editor: Neil James, University of Glamorgan, UK

The Editor and Editorial Board of the Journal of Intellectual Disabilities invite submissions of articles whose subject matter falls within the aims and scope of the Journal of Intellectual Disabilities.

The Journal of Intellectual Disabilities is a peer reviewed journal that provides a medium for the exchange of best practice, knowledge and research between academic and professional disciplines from education, social and health settings to bring about advancement of services for people with intellectual and learning disabilities. It publishes original, peer reviewed papers that are highly relevant to practitioners but which are presented in a scholarly manner. Given its focus on the advancement of supports for people with intellectual disabilities, papers that take an interdisciplinary approach are particularly welcomed. Also, in keeping with its international readership and global trends in the provision of supports, papers from all countries are welcomed as are papers that take an international, comparative approach.

In line with its aims, the Journal of Intellectual Disabilities welcomes contributions, of up to 6,000 words, not only from academics and researchers but also from practitioners. The following types of paper are welcomed:

- Reports of original research
- Papers concerning research methodology
- Review papers

Submission and referee procedure
