A day with Judith Snow

‘Philosopher, lecturer and educator’

13 June 2007

Manchester 10.30am - 3.30pm

Judith Snow, MA, has an international reputation as a social inventor and pioneer in the development of inclusion - communities that welcome the participation of a wide diversity of people. Her presentations are an inspiration.

Judith is a founding member of seminal agencies:

- In 1974 - the Marsha Forest Centre
- in 1983 - the Faculty of the McGill Summer Institute for Integrated Education (along with Jack Pearpoint, John McKnight, John O’Brien)
- in 1994 - the Toronto Summer Institute for Inclusive Community.

Judith brings her personal experience of being labelled disabled. She had a four-year stay in a chronic care environment. One of the first ever support circles, her Joshua Committee, supported her to successfully lobby the Ontario Government for a direct payment of her care. She was the first person in Canada to receive individualised funding.

On the day, Judith will present:

- An introduction to my life
- Is it a disability?
- A challenge to commonly held beliefs about disability
- Individual budgets – how they work and why they make a difference.

Participants will work in groups to process Judith’s messages – to consider implications for us as individuals and professionals and to make actions plans for change.
