

SAVE LEARNING DISABILITY STUDIES

The University of Manchester is attempting to close our course to new applicants in September!!!

- Unique- There is no other course available that is specific to this subject area!
- Real life- Our course receives input from the 'Partnership Steering Group', a number of disabled people who determine and advise on relevant issues to be taught on the course. They are experts by experience!
- Awareness- Through education and research it addresses previous and current issues around 'disability'.
- Inspiration- Graduates are inspired to work in the fields of education, social work and adult services to name just a few. With such knowledge becoming available through our graduates in these fields, the possibilities are endless!
- Empowerment- After a history of oppression, we support disabled people to become empowered.
- Social Responsibility- We contribute to the university meeting their goal for 2020!

It has had a great impact on previous students who have proceeded to research, work in adult services, colleges and schools; therefore the impact on the wider community is vast.
