

Creative Practice Learning in a Changing Landscape

21st August ATRiuM Campus in Cardiff

LIDNAN provides a network of professionals interested in the education of learning disability nurses. The Network has been developed as a result of Strengthening the Commitment (2012) and intends to support the implementation of the educational recommendations within this report.

The way health services are delivered in the UK is changing and will continue to change, with a focus on local communities and increasing alternatives to hospital care being offered. Practice placement experiences need to reflect this changing reality and new models of providing placements. This event aims to explore the opportunities and challenges to providing practice placement learning experiences that prepare student learning disability nurses to develop the knowledge, skills and competence to meet the health care needs of people with a learning disability within this changing landscape.

The event will be of interest to learning disability nurses, academics, practice educators, mentors and practice placement providers.

1000	Coffee & registration
1030	Welcome & chairs opening remarks	Jen French, Nursing Officer, Welsh Government
1040	The work of the L/IDNAN Community of Practice	Bob Hallawell, Chair & Hazel Powell, Vice Chair of L/IDNAN
1100	Hub and Spoke placement approach	Lynne Westwood, Senior Lecturer, University of Wolverhampton
1120	Supporting learning disability nurse education in England	Lynne Hall, Clinical Advisor, Health Education England
1150	Social Media in Learning Disability Nursing	Sally Wilson
1215	Lunch: Bring your own
1315	The future of undergraduate education of Registered Intellectual Disability Nurses' in the Republic of Ireland	Paul Horan, Assistant Professor, The University of Dublin, Trinity College
1345	Learning in practice	Neil James, Senior Lecturer, The University of South Wales
1415	Creative placement solutions	Peter Griffin, Discipline Lead, Queen's University, Belfast
1445	Plenary
1515	Chairs closing remarks Tea and coffee	Jen French, Nursing Officer, Welsh Government

The ATRiuM campus in Cardiff city centre
 Address: University of South Wales, ATRiuM, Adam Street, Cardiff, CF24 2FN
 Telephone: 01443 668 543