We work with disabled adults, children older people and families. We also work with organisations that support them.

Pathways Associates support disabled people, children, older people and families to be included in their communities. We do this in partnership with people themselves and organisations.

Who are we?

All our associates have many years experience of supporting disabled people, children, older people and families in different ways. Some associates are disabled people or family members themselves.

Pathways Associates can:

Develop and run training courses and mentoring.

Support service providers to measure the quality of their work.

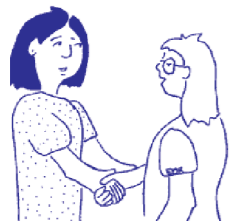

Bring people together at events and conferences.

Do research, share knowledge, experiences and learning.

Develop new projects to support disabled people, children, older people and families in different ways.
