(Links to KSF HWB7, C1, C3, C5)

An emergency is something that imposes an immediate threat to human life, so how can these occur in palliative care when the aim of care is comfort? Find out by attending this session. It will also address the dilemma of treatment versus non-treatment in such emergencies.

At the end of this session you will be able to:

- Define what constitutes a palliative care emergency
- Influence the care and investigations which need to occur during this time
- Demonstrate the appropriate care for specific situations
