

Family Footings Facilitator Could this be you?

What is important to you

- Working with people who are committed to making a difference in the lives of disabled children and their families
- Finding ways to improve services in a way that increases quality of life.
- Working with families in a participatory, engaging and creative way
- Using your advanced facilitation & person centred thinking skills
- Getting things done and seeing the difference your work makes
- Having opportunities and being able to use your initiative at work
- Being organised and having efficient systems
- You enjoy working flexible hours & managing your own workload
- Working in partnership and collaboration with others

What people like and admire about you

- You are personable and work with others well
- Your ability to inspire and motivate others to see things differently
- Your great facilitation and communication skills
- Your capacity to stay calm under pressure & meet deadlines
- Your determination to put plans into action
- Your integrity
- Your reflective nature
- The way you treat people with respect, dignity and equality

How we will support you

- Provide a clear structure so you understand where your role fits, what your core responsibilities are and where you can use your creativity and judgement
- Provide a good induction and full training
- Look at what is working and what is not working in your role in support and supervision (every 4 weeks with your manager)
- Peer support within a team of other facilitators
- Access to other expertise and support from colleagues within MacIntyre
- Give you the resources to do your job

MacIntyre

Providing support...your way